Description:

Learn the ins and outs of grant writing for classrooms, schools, and districts in this informative online training.

We recognize that many people shy away from pursuing grants due to the fear of the unknown. The complex and time-consuming nature of the application process can be as daunting as planning a perfect family vacation. This training will cover everything from proactively researching and identifying potential funding sources to crafting formal applications and designing progress monitoring tools to ensure grants are implemented with fiscal and programmatic fidelity. Join us to learn more from Cara Wiley, the expert grant writer from West 40 ISC.
